Being the manufacturers ourselves, the buyer obtains the watch from first hand. This explains its cheapness.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE.

THURSDAY EVENING, JUNE 18.

TUESDAY'S London telegrams are the latest to hand through Reuter's agency, and they are devoid of any special news. The Stock Exchange quotations are the same throughout as on the previous day, but the rate of discount in the open market on 3 months' bills is given ¼ higher at 1¼ per cent.

In the Produce markets Seeds and Wheats were unchanged, Coffee was 1s. per cwt. lower.

Cotton in Liverpool on Tuesday closed dull at unaltered prices on the spot, but 1-32d. to 3-64d. lower for Americans to arrive. In New York ready Cotton is quoted 1-16 cent., futures 5 points lower.

In the local market there is no change to notice and there is very little doing. The receipts for the week ending to-day only make up a total of 23,000 bales, the whole of which practically goes into godown.

WHEAT is very firm, and for No. 1 Soft White Pessy we now quote Rs. 3-11 to Rs. 3-11½ per cwt., No. 1 Club Delhi Rs. 3-9 to Rs. 3-9½. Buyers are more willing to do business, but sellers are exceedingly stiff owing to smaller supplies.

SEEDS are unaltered.

FREIGHTS keep very dull, and for open charter the best rate now offered for ready steamers is 22a. 6d. For Liverpool measurement 18s. 9d. is now asked, but a large line would probably command an easier rate. Current quotations are :—

	Ready.	Forward.
Liverpool	18s. 9d.
Open Charter	22s. 6d.
Havre	23s. 9d.
Antwerp	22s. 6d.
Marseilles	22s.
Trieste-Venice		s. to 32s.

IMPORTS.—For Piece-goods the inquiry is slack, and weaker quotations from Manchester confirm dealers in their desire to postpone buying.

MONEY.—The Bank of Bengal in Calcutta have reduced their rates of discount 1 per cent. to-day, making their minimum 5 per cent. per annum, the same as the Bank of Bombay. The Cash Balance at head office and branches is reported up 44 lakhs.

The Government Gazette issued to-day gives the following statement of silver in the Mint :—

	Rs.
Balance in hand on 8th June	76,95,088
Silver received during the week	32,27,719
	1,09,22,807
Deduct new coin paid during week	21,59,531
	87,63,276
Silver belonging to private individuals	65,68,167
	1,53,31,443
Last week	1,55,25,015

The imports of Gold and Silver for the week ending yesterday were Rs. 34,73,995.

EXCHANGE.—The market has again been very quiet, with an easier tendency for private paper, although unchanged for bank bills. Indeed telegraphic transfer for July is reported to have been done at 1s. 6¼d., which is a comparatively full rate. Closing rates are :—

Bank Bills on demand	1s. 6 7-8d. per rupee
Do. Telegraphic	1s. 6 27-32d. "
Do. Three months' sight	1s. 6 31-32d. "
Credits	1s. 7 1-32d. "
Francs " "	2 01¼ "

GOVERNMENT PAPER has been rather firmer, although not very active. Fours opened at Rs. 99⅝ and advanced to Rs. 97, at which business was done; but at the close buyers do not offer over Rs. 96⅝ again. Fours-and-a-half are still Rs. 99½.

SHARES.—For Spinning and Weaving Mills a steadier tone is again apparent, and rates in many cases are higher by Rs. 5 to Rs. 10 per share. Manockjee Petits are up to Rs.1,080, Great Eastern to Rs. 980.

AN ENGINEER VOLUNTEER CORPS FOR INDIA.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

SIMLA, JUNE 18.

A lecture was delivered to-day at the United Service Institute by Mr. Molesworth on the formation of an Engineer Volunteer Corps for India. The lecturer first spoke of the necessity of preparedness and the call for patriotism at the present crisis. He bemoaned England's unpreparedness and the folly of those politicians of the "Perish India" school who speak of India as a burden on the mother-country. He considered that the Volunteer force in India was not what it ought to be, and no provision had been made for volunteering by engineers. He sketched briefly the constitution and formation of the Volunteer Engineer Corps in England. His remarks, he said, were thrown out for the consideration of military men, the lecturer being only a civilian. He was of opinion that in default of better things a corps of Sappers should be attached to every Volunteer corps in the country, and that every enrolled battalion of Volunteers should undergo a certain number of engineering drills per annum. He recommended the formation of corps of Regimental and Volunteer engineers at large towns on railway junctions which might be calculated to supply a sufficient number of trained Europeans for the rank and file. He proposed to utilise the civil engineers, some 300 in number, as a staff corps for the Volunteer Engineers. The command of the force should rest with the Military authorities. The corps should be trained in military fortification, offensive and defensive siege operations, and a topographical knowledge of the surrounding country. It should be furnished with machine guns. They should, in fact, supplement as far as possible the labours of the Regular Engineers.

Colonel Chesney rose and proceeded to demolish the scheme.

The Commander-in-Chief proposed a vote of thanks to the lecturer. His Excellency denied that England was habitually remiss in military preparations, or was unready now; and sat down amidst applause.

The men are now quite destitute and in urgent need of assistance.

WE hear that a Marine Court of Inquiry will be held at the Fort Police Court on Monday to investigate the circumstances connected with the wreck of the s. s. Seraglio on or about Saturday, the 13th. It is probable that there will also be a court of inquiry on the barque Portland Isles, which has been totally wrecked off Coompta. The crew of this barque have been safely landed at Karwar.

Seven students have been awarded certificates and prizes for proficiency in elementary architecture. A list is also given of those who have been awarded prizes only. THE following is the official summary of the Bombay Presidency season reports for the week ending the 16th inst.:—"Rain in most districts, but generally slight. Preparations for kharif crops in progress in all districts. Scarcity of drinking water in one, and of fodder in three talukas of Dharwar. Fever and cattle-disease in parts of seven, small-pox in parts of thirteen, and cholera in parts of nineteen districts."

THE memorial of the Bengal zemindars and others against the Tenancy Bill reached the Government of India some little time ago. It will probably be forwarded to the India Office by this week's mail.

MR. O'CALLAGHAN, the Engineer who has hitherto been in charge of the line under construction from the Punjab Northern State Railway to the Jhelum, has been appointed to the Bolan Railway in the place of Colonel Lindsay, as Major Gracey's health will not allow him to take up that arduous post.

THE Amir's reports of the bitter fanaticism of the blood-thirsty Kabuli are not corroborated by the correspondents with the Boundary Commission. When the English officers entered Herat, the manner of all classes—priests, soldiery, and population in general—was friendly and agreeable. The correspondent of the Pioneer remarks that it is satisfactory to find the priestly classes fostering, and not discouraging, favourable feelings towards the Anglo-Afghan alliance. It is reported that the Mullahs have publicly heralded the arrival of British officers in Herat as an auspicious omen, and invoked the divine blessing on the British alliance, which by the Amir's orders has been proclaimed throughout Afghanistan.

IF all the accounts that are published be true, M. Haas, the representative of France at Mandalay, has been cutting a sorry figure. When, soon after his arrival, he desired an audience of the King, and was told that he must take off his boots before obtaining access to the Royal presence, he affected intense indignation, and declared that nothing could induce him to submit to such indignity. He has since, however, suppressed his indignation, and has entered the Royal presence with bare feet. The Mandalay correspondent of the Englishman, commenting on the incident, thinks that M. Haas has committed a serious mistake, likely to prejudice his mission. "What a lady interpreter, clerk, or secretary," adds the correspondent, "the helplessness of M. Haas is indescribable. Not only is there no fear that the French will set the Upper Irrawaddy on fire, but there is every appearance that the Burmese, astonished at the ignorance and gaucherie displayed by the 'great nation' in its dealings with them, will be led to make comparisons which will not be odious for us, Englishmen."

A SUPPLEMENT to the British Burma Gazette of June 6 shows that the Government have once more seriously taken in hand the question of establishing a uniform standard measure of capacity to be used in all the rice markets and bazaars of British Burma. More than thirty years ago the matter was supposed to have been finally settled, but in 1862 the Revenue officers reported that the Government standard had, nevertheless, not come into general use. Again in 1866 Colonel (now General Sir Arthur) Phayre fixed a basket, equivalent in capacity to the English bushel, as the standard. This also failed, however, to become general. In 1871 the Indian Weights and Measures Act prescribed one standard of capacity, namely, "a measure containing one seer of water at its maximum density weighed in a vacuum," of which all other standard measures in public use must be either multiples or sub-multiples. The Act did not, however, make the use of other non-standard measures penal, and, as no action has been taken upon it in British Burma, the abuses complained of thirty years ago remain unremedied. Hence we can easily comprehend the failure of previous attempts to establish a uniform measure in opposition to the practice and interests of the traders. As, however, the Government now propose to adopt as the standard measure the "Rangoon basket," which is already in very general use, and to make the fraudulent use of other measures penal, this long-pending question may be finally settled at last.

THE Mandalay potentate has matrimonial intentions. Some time ago Theebaw wanted the Kin Woon Minghie, who is a widower, to marry the Padinmyoza, who is a widow, and daughter of the Tinedat Minghie; but the old Minister stoutly refused, saying that he felt rather inclined to retire from the world, and become a priest. Now, it is said that the Kin Woon Minghie has changed his mind, and will shortly wed the dowager Queen, Sinbyumayeen. But those who know the jealous and arrogant temper of their present Majesties, doubt that their consent will ever be obtained.

THE last report from the Mysore Gold Mining Company must be highly satisfactory to the shareholders. Stamping was recommenced on the 31st of March, and the work was cleaned up on the 18th of April, when no less than 312 ounces 1 dwt. of gold were obtained from 71 tons of stone. The manager, Captain Plummer, says that this yield must be regarded as exceptional.

THERE seems to be no reason, says the St. James's Gazette, to doubt the substantial accuracy of the account given in the Standard of the Additional Article of the Chefoo Convention of 1876, by which the traffic in opium between British India and China is to be regulated in future. There is to be a uniform rate of "lekin" (duty) to be paid on opium at Chinese ports, and there are to be no inland barriers. This arrangement is said to give satisfaction to both parties. "It will have this advantage for us, that it will deprive certain silly people of one of their stock arguments about the wickedness of British rule in India, for they will no longer be able to assert that our Government 'forces opium on the Chinese' contrary to the wish of the rulers of the country and greatly to the detriment of the inhabitants. The Chinese are no doubt sufficiently good judges of whether or not opium is good for them; and, the trade being regulated for the future with their free consent, we need not make ourselves unhappy about its 'immorality.'"

THE Times' correspondent at Durban, telegraphing on May 20, says:—The Bloemfontein Express publishes the full text of a proclamation by the acting President of the new republic, dated the 30th of April last, protesting against the action of Lieutenant Moore, of the gunboat Goshawk, in taking possession of St. Lucia Bay in December last, in virtue of the treaty with King Panda of 1843; denying the validity of such treaty; and, on the strength of declarations of the Zulu chiefs, claiming St. Lucia Bay as the property of the new republic, which exercises authority over the whole of the kingdom of Dinizulu. The proclamation ends by declaring St. Lucia a free port for all nations, none excepted. The lottery for the farms in the new republic was to take place on the 11th inst.; but some delay may have occurred in consequence of Dinizulu's hesitation as to the cession of so much territory. A large attendance of farmers is reported.

AMONG the crowd awaiting before the Royal Palace at Naples the Queen's return from her usual drive, a man was seen with a baby in his arms. On the approach of the royal carriage he pressed a petition into the infant's hands, and threw both petition and child into the carriage. Her Majesty, though startled, caressed the crying infant, and took it with her into the palace. It was then consigned to a policeman, who soon found the father and took him to the police station. He turned out to be an ex-corporal of the bersaglieri, who, after twelve years' service, had been unsuccessfully waiting for some civil employment, and was now in the greatest distress with a numerous family. Several petitions of his having been without result, he contrived to obtain, through the original way he adopted of tendering this last one and through the graciousness of Queen Margaret, pecuniary assistance and the promise that he should be provided for.

THE Madrid correspondent of the Petit Marseillais relates a striking instance of the intensity of family quarrels in Spain. About a year ago a gipsy named Moralis was assassinated at Zerza, in the province of Caceres, by one of his comrades named Silra. The latter was in due course tried and condemned to death; but his execution did not satisfy the vengeance of the victim's family. There had been ill-feeling between the two families for three years, but there had been no open quarrel until the murder of Moralis. Soon after the execution of the murderer, which took place last month, the two families met on their return from a fair near the town of Caceres. They had their mules and cattle with them. There were about fifty on each side, including women and children. A regular pitched battle ensued, revolvers, knives, and sticks being freely used by the men, while the women employed their nails with considerable effect, and the children threw stones indiscriminately. The result of the struggle was that the heads of the two families were both killed, two of the women, and several of the children. There were ten or twelve wounded, and the bodies of the dead were horribly mutilated. If the mounted police had not interrupted the fight, there would have been many more lives lost. Several of the mules were killed, and the baggage of the two families was strewn about in such disorder that the road for nearly half-a-mile looked as if a large army had beaten a retreat along it.

TRAVELLERS arriving in London from the Continent should be aware of the nature of the examination to which luggage is now subjected. A correspondent writes to the St. James's:—A few days ago, travelling with two ladies from Berlin, I unsuspectingly registered our heavy trunks through to London. We slept one night at Cologne, and consequently the luggage preceded us by a few hours. On arriving at Charing-cross I offered the keys, as usual, to the Custom House officer; but found, to my surprise and indignation, that this was now needless formality, as the locks of our portmanteaus had already been picked, and a private and secret examination of our effects had already been completed before our arrival. The officer was so good as to inform me that his orders were to smash any locks that he was unable to pick. Such examination of trunks without the knowledge or consent of the owners seems to me "flat burglary:" a proceeding as unjustifiable as that opening and reseaing of private letters which many years ago produced such a storm of indignation during the postmastership of Sir James Graham. At all events, travellers should have notice of what they are to expect, and should avoid consigning to their trunks such articles as undeveloped photographic negatives or small articles of jewellery which might easily disappear in the confusion of a nocturnal examination. Above all, valuable unpickable locks should be eschewed as they are doomed to certain destruction, without any hope of pecuniary compensation. Meanwhile cakes of dynamite are smuggled without detection in rolls of bacon or in casks of American apples.

THE defacement of French copper coins in circulation in London by having advertisements stamped upon them has been brought under notice in the House of Commons by Mr. Broadhurst, who asked whether the attention of the Chancellor of the Exchequer had been called to the subject, and to the inconvenience and loss inflicted upon a large number of working people through the coins thus stamped being refused in many cases as payment, and notably so on the tramway lines in South London; and whether he would adopt means to stop the practice and to punish the guilty parties? It appears, however, that the practice cannot be stopped, and that no legal guilt attaches to the "parties." Mr. Hibbert, in reply, denounced the practice as most indefensible; but pointed out that the Government was powerless in the matter, inasmuch as it is not illegal to deface any coins except those of the realm. The remedy is in the hands of the public, who can refuse to accept French coins, which are not legal tender. Mr. Hibbert nevertheless expressed a hope that these persons who have adopted the practice of thus defacing French coins will discontinue it. It may be so. On the other hand, it must be borne in mind that the very inconvenience caused by the practice complained of promotes the object in view. Additional publicity is gained by the frightful rows that arise out of the attempted circulation of the defaced coin; while the articles advertised are impressed not only upon the money but also upon the memory of those who have a difficulty in getting rid of it. These are advantages not to be lightly foregone by enterprising traders.

As the scheme is one which the Government here are not at all likely to accept, no good purpose would be served by referring to the details At any rate the Secretary of State has certainly not endorsed the Government of India's recommendations, as has been rumoured.

CHARGES AGAINST THE POLICE AT SURAT.

FOR some days past the native papers have been discussing with much eagerness an alleged case of police zoolum that was recently brought on for trial before Mr. Lely, the Assistant Collector at Surat. The facts of the case, as far as we can ascertain, appear to be these. The police, alleging that they had received information that a Parsee named Hormusjee Malesang had some stolen goods in his possession, made a night raid upon his house, and after subjecting his family to some unnecessarily harsh treatment on the pretence of searching the house, took Malesang to the lock-up for the night, although no primâ facie case, his defenders say, was made out against him. In the morning he was reported to be seriously ill, and was taken by the police to the hospital, where he was declared to be dead. A coroner's inquest was naturally held, at which a verdict was returned to the effect that the deceased might have had his death hastened by injuries received during the night, or that he might have died merely of fright. But the general verdict of the public was that the unfortunate man had been done to death by the police. The sympathy of the people was excited by a story which was widely circulated, and which gained general credence, to the effect that Malesang, who did not enjoy a very amiable character, was not in the good graces of the police, because of the evidence he bore in a recent case, which procured the liberation of the parties accused by the police. It was said that they had consequently some spite against him, and had resolved to pay him off at the earliest opportunity. The prevalent belief in the arbitrary conduct of the police, and in the violent measures said to be adopted to make suspected persons confess, helped immensely to rouse the sympathies of the public of Surat. Subscripious from all classes of the people poured in unsolicited to help the family of the deceased in taking criminal proceedings against the members of the police who were implicated in his death. In the evidence brought by the prosecution, one witness asserted that he saw one of the prisoners strike the deceased in the pit of the stomach. The defence tried to show that Malesang had for some time previous to his death been ailing from rupture, and that death was the result of natural causes. The magistrate, during the trial, expressed himself strongly concerning the conduct of the police, and a charge of grievous hurt being framed, he ordered the first accused, a jemadar, to be dismissed the service, the two next to be fined Rs. 5 each, and the rest to be discharged. This decision has been viewed with some amount of dissatisfaction, and there is talk of an appeal to a higher court.

INDIAN TROOPS IN THE SOUDAN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—If ever there had been a doubt as to the value of Indian troops as an auxiliary to those of the mother-country, the Soudan campaign surely has settled the matter beyond all dispute; and for the brilliant services performed by the Indian Contingent in Egypt, we have the records of the war, teeming with encomiums from Lord Wolseley and every general who served with it; and lastly, H. E. the Governor in Council, in his maiden speech, referred in high praise to a Bombay regiment now at Suakim. But we may well ask how far all this will tend to make the Native Army more popular with their rulers? Is the employment in garrison a foreign country after all fighting is over? I am in receipt of several communications from Suakim, &c., and from these I learn the bitter complaints uttered by the Native troops against being detained away from their country now that hostilities have ceased. We have much to do to render service in our Native Army more agreeable than it is, and if we begin by treating in this unjust manner those who are already in the most forest assured, sir, that when the real hour of need arises there will be none forthcoming to replenish or augment the Native Army, whose brilliant achievements count now as a great factor in any war in which England or its dependencies may be involved.

to the Rewa State accept. The railway was an absolute necessity if the coal was to be sent to market, so the Government took it in hand, and it is now in course of construction.

As we ourselves some time ago expressed approval of the Government policy, we feel bound to explain how the matter has reached its present stage, and to show that there is not that gross interference with private enterprise which has been alleged, and that the mines are not to be worked "in the interests of the Public Works budget." From the first the Government and the Secretary of State were entirely in favour of putting the coalfield in the hands of a Company, if only satisfactory terms could be arranged. The idea of the Government making a profit out of the enterprise was never entertained, it being distinctly laid down that the Rewa State should derive all the advantage which it properly could from the coal deposits in its territory. The Raja, as already stated, is a minor, and a British officer is the Superintendent of the State. For the Rewa State, therefore, to undertake the working of the mines would be almost impossible, as a political officer could not undertake their management in addition to his ordinary duties. The Government had therefore to consider how they could best serve the interests of Rewa, and at the same time the wider public interest, by developing the coalfield. In their judgment no terms were offered by private individuals which were satisfactory; and, admitting for the sake of argument that their judgment is open to question, we fail to see that their after action is so reprehensible as Calcutta would have us believe. They arranged to work the mines themselves, paying a royalty of eight annas per ton raised to the Rewa State, with an increase to one rupee if the quantity raised exceeded 150,000 tons per annum. So far from making a profit for themselves they laid down that the coal should be sold at the pithead at a price which would cover the royalty and the working expenses and give 4 per cent. on the capital expended. They had no selfish interests in view in their action; but their sole desire was to promote the expansion of railway traffic by giving lines in the neighbourhood of Rewa cheap coal. The Great Indian Peninsula and the Bhopal extension to Gwalior and Cawnpore can consume nearly all the coal raised, and the essential principle has been laid down that the coal shall be supplied to railways only. The Bilaspur-Etawah line, when made, will also draw its coal from Umaria, and any company which takes up that railway will be given a separate colliery to work on its own account. If there were private consumers to be supplied, as there are in Calcutta with its mills and the steamers visiting the Hooghly, Government might be accused of injuring private enterprise, but with new railways and existing lines demanding coal, and the Umaria field awaiting development, they would scarcely be fulfilling their duty if they did not take steps to utilise the mineral wealth of Rewa. As a Bombay paper points out, their action in this matter is part and parcel of their railway policy in Central India: the expansion of railway traffic depends mainly on a local supply of cheap coal, and this, we are glad to say, can be furnished from Umaria for the various lines we have before detailed. The Bengal colliery owners, we think, are needlessly alarmed; there has already been a reduction in the rates on the East Indian Railway, and we are sanguine enough to believe that there will be another in the course of time. At ½ pie per mile Ranegunge coal could be delivered at Allahabad for Rs. 11-8 per ton, while the Umaria coal would certainly cost more to be placed there, taking into consideration the conditions under which it would be raised and carried.

GANDY'S AMERICAN COTTON BELTING

TO those having the use and care of machinery it is of the greatest importance to know what is the best belting to use to transmit power To such and to all the answer is, USE THE GANDY BELT.

It has imitators, and this is the strongest proof possible, that is an article that is worth spending cash on to imitate. If it were a worthless article, or one that had not been VERY SUCCESSFUL, no one would go to the expense and trouble to imitate it. Imitation is the strongest form of flattery, and those who imitate the "GANDY" belt are proclaiming to all belt users, that the GANDY belt is the best that has ever been put before the public.

The GANDY belt has acquired such a deservedly high reputation, that belt users, afte having tried all others, come back to Gandy and declare that, notwithstanding the difference in price, they find it to their advantage to use the American Cotton Belt made, only by the inventor and patentee.
